

O, Etc.

$118

Use this convertible top year-round: Just peel off the arm warmers when you start to heat up. (athleta.com)

$54

A shapely color-blocked tank with compression power looks sleek paired with black pants. (Lucy Activewear; lucy.com)

$55

Runners and skiers swear by these supportive leggings, designed to improve performance, endurance, and recovery time. (cv-x.com)

$97

$66

The high neckline, longer length, and ruching around the arms emphasize a yoga-toned torso. (zobha.com)

$130

A reflective, waterproof thermal jacket with thumbholes keeps you on the go in snow or rain. (newbalance.com)

Sizes B through H get underwire-free support; the microfiber lining prevents chafing. (Anita Active; bare necessities.com)

$69

GYM dandies

Sharp-looking, high-tech workout clothes are just what the trainer ordered.

$59

Spandex leggings in a fresh color combination feature a control-panel power mesh waistband. (Soma Intimates; soma.com)

$60

This insulating henley, with its rich colors and deep V-neck, is an appealing choice even outside the gym. (underarmour.com)

$65

For running around the track or the supermarket, try this lightweight spandex zip-up. (calvinklein.com)

$49

A ripstop nylon vest has plenty of pockets for keys, cash, and an MP3 player. (Alo; alosport.com)

—BROOKE KOSOFSKY GLASSBERG

Contoured, molded cups and wide, adjustable straps are made to flatter, not flatten, larger chests. (movingcomfort.com)

$52

